WELCOME MESSAGE

On behalf of my colleagues on the IFA Board and the IFA International Secretariat, we welcome you to the 11th Global Conference on Ageing of the International Federation on Ageing (IFA).

This Conference is significant on many accounts. Firstly, it takes place ten years after the last UN World Conference on Ageing in Madrid, Spain (2002), where Governments agreed upon and adopted by consensus the Madrid International Plan of Action on Ageing (MIPAA). MIPAA continues to serve as the guiding blueprint for ageing policies around the world, and the ten-year review and appraisal process is currently underway at the United Nations. How Governments and NGOs can best work together to implement MIPAA's policy recommendations is the subject of deliberations everywhere. The IFA Global Conference on Ageing offers the ideal platform, with its multipartite membership -- government departments, NGOs, academic institutions, service providers as well as older people themselves – to significantly advance these worldwide deliberations.

The overall theme of the Conference is Ageing Connects. A major Conference focus will be on how technology will radically change, and hopefully improve, the lives of older people and their communities in an interconnected world. When perusing the program, you will also find a plethora of Conference sessions that address a wide range of other issues, many of them related to the theme of active and healthy ageing – the overarching theme proclaimed by the European Commission for 2012. The relevance of these issues will be deliberated against the background of growing concern about the vulnerability of significant numbers of older persons in Europe and around the world as societies struggle to cope with the consequences of the worldwide economic recession.

Finally, the Conference is an important milestone in the over 35-year history of IFA, since it is the first time that its biennial conference will take place in the heart of Eastern Europe. Zivot 90, IFA member and host organization for the 2012 Conference, is an outstanding example of a national NGO that promotes the rights and interests of older persons in a society that has undergone sweeping economic and social change in its recent history.

On behalf of the IFA Board, we invite all Conference participants to take an active part in the IFA Global Conference on Ageing in Prague, sharing experiences and taking home new ideas to improve the lives of older citizens everywhere.

HOSTS

Život 90

ŽIVOT 90 is a Czech national association that has represented elderly people's interests and needs in the Czech Republic since 1990. With more than 10,000 members, the association has its seat in Prague and six other branches all over the Czech Republic. ŽIVOT 90's main goal is to create conditions for exchanging, storing, and disseminating experiences, knowledge and proficiency regarding older people. It strives for the improvement of the quality of life of older people so that nobody needs to be ashamed for his or her age.

The main program of $\check{\text{Z}}\text{IVOT}$ 90 is called "Home is at home." It is a sum of services, which seek to support older people – especially those who are lonely and socially disadvantaged, as well as people with disabilities—in their homes, their natural environment. It is a programme for 95% of people over the age of 60.

IFA

The IFA is an international non-governmental organization representing more than 50 million older people in 62 countries, through its membership base of NGOs, professionals, academics, business organisations, government and individuals. It is one of a small group of NGOS in this field with General Consultative status at the United Nations.

IFA is home of the pre-eminent not-for-profit global organisations, leaders and agencies on issues associated with ageing. The IFA is an information centre and connector through which professionals—such as researches, policymakers, business executives—are able to share and access information on policy, best practices, elder rights, age-friendly cities, mature workers, health, well being and care for older adults.

Maurice Ravel, Jiří Kylián: Un ballo Jaroslav Krček, Daniela Stavělová: Český rok

Ballet and folklore performances at the famous National Theatre, followed by a reception on the roof of this historic building.

Maurice Ravel, Jiří Kylián: Un ballo

The title may be understood in the traditional connotation of a social event ("a ball") -- it is not the choreographer's intention to have the viewer search for deep or symbolic contents. Jiří Kylian describes this work as "a dance to music; nothing more." He considers it an exercise in musicality and sensitivity between male and female partners."

Dance artists of the South Bohemian Theatre.

Jirí KYLIAN, Choreographer

The initiator of this unique concept is Jiří Kylian (Prague, 1947), artistic director of Nederlands Dans Theater and choreographer. Despite the development of a unique and very personal style, Kylian's choreographies defy academic categorization by blending elements of various sources. There are always new inspirations to be explored, new challenges to be met and boundaries to be overcome. Profoundly based on musical reading, his work seems to be unveiling hidden traces of our being through his dance.

Kylian has created about one hundred choreographies; he seeks his inspiration in classical music (Stravinskij, Britten, Webern, Mozart, Bach), works with film (Car Men, 2006).

He has created nearly 100 choreographic works mostly for Nederlands Dans Theater.

His work is being performed worldwide in over 80 companies and schools. Kylian received numerous awards and honors for his work such as three Nijinsky Awards, Benois de la Danse in Moscow and Berlin, Honorary Medal from the President of the Czech Republic and Chevalier du Légion d'Honneur in France. In 2008 he received the Golden Lion at Venice Biennale and the Medal for Art and Science of Her Majesty Queen Beatrix.

Jaroslav Krček, Daniela Stavělová: A year in Bohemia, Suite of 12 parts based on Czech folk poetry

A year in Bohemia composed by Jaroslav Krček presents musical interpretation of national folkways and rituals during the whole year. This music has been successfully performed by ensemble Musica Bohemica for several years. Almost one hour long composition was inspired with musical, folk and especially dancing character which gives the piece outstanding lively pulse and dramatic impressiveness. The scenic interpretation of Bohemian traditional images shows various possibilities to combine music, dance, dramatic and art character so that the whole picture is formed into emotive and impressive composition.

Performers: Musica Bohemica and Joseph Vycpalek´s ensemble of songs and dances

The National Theatre in Prague belongs among the most important Czech cultural institutions with a rich artistic tradition, which was created and maintained by the most distinguished personalities in Czech society.

The building of the National Theatre was inaugurated on November 18, 1883 with a performance of Smetana's festive opera Libuše composed for this occasion. The building, technically perfectly equipped (electric illumination, a steel-constructed stage), served without any extensive modifications for almost one hundred years. Now, this historic, extremely prestigious and beautiful building represents the main stage of the three artistic ensembles of the National Theatre: the drama, opera and ballet.

SITE VISITS OF AGE-FRIENDLY FACILITIES

(Prague and outside Prague)

1 June 2012, 13:30 - 18:00

Meeting point: Prague Congress Centre 900 CZK

(Please note that site visits are not included in the conference registration fee)

Život 90 - Portus House Prague

Portus House - the home of the civic association Život 90, is situated in the Old Town of Prague in a beautiful historical building. It is the biggest community centre for elderly people in the Czech Republic providing educational programmes, theatre performances, ceramics and other art courses, memory training, PC and internet lessons to name a few of the services. In addition to these activities are the Respite and Rehabilitation Centre, the Distress Care Service (AREÍON) and Information centre for elderly people and their families including the free telephone "Help Line".

Sue Ryder Home, Prague

Domov Sue Ryder offers its clients a loving and peaceful environment with complete nursing and social care. This care seeks to respect the uniqueness of every person while facilitating a high quality of life. The Home offers accommodation similar to a social welfare institution, personal assistance in the clients' homes as well as counselling for both seniors and the general public.

Bethesda - Diakonie Charity, Diakony of the Church of Brethren, Prague

The Bethesda project offers as independent and active a life as possible combined with care according to the health conditions of individuals. Project goals are to create a home for those who have problems with frailty in old age, illness and handicap and do not have adequate family support. Also, as part of the project, spiritual care and fellowship are available for those who desire it so as to live as dignified and independent life as possible.

Gerontology Centre Prague

The centre offers short-term accommodation and a day care facility for individuals suffering from dementia or who may be 'at risk' through chronic conditions, limited mobility and living and care arrangements. The Centre's surgery ward provides health care to residents living in the Prague 8 city district in old people's homes.

Home for the Elderly, Jenštejn

The Home for the Elderly provides fully serviced and furnished long-term (permanent) accommodation with preparation and provision of meals (ordinary and diabetic diets), small shopping service, assistance with common self care, and social advisory services.

Site visits tours will leave from and return to the Prague Congress Centre.

FA Ageing Connects

The nature of place: Can rural and remote places become age-friendly places?

Discussion panelists

Dr. Jane Barratt (Moderator)

Secretary General, International Federation on Ageing

Dr. Verena Menec

Canada Research Chair in Health Aging; Director, Centre on Aging, University of Manitoba (Canada)

Dr. John Beard

Director, Department of Ageing and Life Course, World Health Organization

Dr. Kathleen Brasher

COTA Victoria (Australia)

Dr. Bill Ashton

Director, Rural Development Institute, Brandon University (Canada)

Join the panel for a moderated armchair discussion to understand the challenges and opportunities that global rural and remote communities face.

Two concurrent workshops follow the panel discussion

Workshop 1: Age-friendly rural and remote communities: lessons learned from the first five years

Facilitator: Dr. Verena Menec

Dr. Menec will guide workshop participants in addressing practical issues faced by communities as they embark on the journey to become more age-friendly.

Workshop 2: Age-friendly rural and remote communities: development, framework, challenges and opportunities

Facilitator: Dr. Bill Ashton

Dr. Ashton will lead a workshop that will allow participants to share experiences and better understand issues of rural community development.
